

First Literacy: How Parents Can Build Readers and Writers

presented by Carol Garboden Murray and Karen Pillsworth

Join us for an interesting and interactive evening as we discuss how to:

- Encourage your child's oral language skills, an essential foundation needed for reading, through conversations, telling family stories, and reading aloud.
- Choose high quality children's literature
- Importance of rhyme, repetition and word play
- Interpret scribbles and the stages of writing
- Spark a love of reading and writing

Wednesday, April 25, 2018 7:00 – 9:00 p.m.

Rosendale Library

Carol Garboden Murray is the Director of the Nursery School at Bard College, author of Simple Signing with Young Children, and parent to 2 sons. Karen Pillsworth is a professional storyteller and retired kindergarten teacher.

*Celebrating the 60th Anniversary of the Rosendale Library
Sponsored by the Friends of the Rosendale Library*